ILERA Congress 2013 - Have You Submitted an Abstract?

Submit an Abstract

Have you submitted an abstract for the 8th Asian Regional Congress of the International Labour & Employment Relations Association (ILERA)?

Abstracts are invited on the general theme of "Work and Employment in the Asian Century". Papers presented at the Congress will be organised around the four broad track themes listed below:

- Changing contours of employment relations systems and labour market regulation.
- HRM – trends and challenges.
- The future of worker voice and representation.
- Globalization, CSR and decent work.

We also invite individuals and research groups to submit an Expression of Interest to convene their own "Special Interest Symposium" as part of the Congress.

For full submission details, please visit the ILERA Congress website: http://iler2013.com/program.php

Why should I attend?

As we enter the era of Asia, don’t miss this opportunity to attend the Asian Regional Congress. Find out about the latest trends in practice and theory with a program designed by a team of leading and experienced practitioners and academics from major universities including Monash University, RMIT, and University of Melbourne.

A who’s who of practitioners and academics from Asia and other continents will be participating in the Congress; providing an invaluable opportunity to be inspired and to network.

The Congress will focus on all aspects of industrial and employment relations, human resources, labour law, productivity, dispute prevention and settlement, diversity and work in the global economy. Delegates will share ideas about new developments, ideas and practices in the field.
